

Sue serves as Development Director for the VFW National Home, where she oversees marketing, fundraising and donor relations. She works with individual donors, organizations, and corporations from across the country.

Sue has been with the VFW National Home since October 2012. She worked as an Associate Director of Development until March of 2016, when she was appointed to the position of Development Director. Prior to her work with the National Home, Sue spent 20 years in sales. Sue has a BA in Business from Northwood University.

Her father, Theo Catlin, served as a Corporal in the United States Army during WWII.

Sue's husband, Mark, is a group leader at General Motors. They have been married since 1998 and have one son together.